Let The BMJ drive traffic to your resources

Promote your resources on thebmj.com and reach 1.2m* unique users

The BMJ's hosted content section has been launched to give our users access to resources produced by external organisations. If you are publishing a report or multimedia resource that you think would be of interest to the journal's readership of doctors, academic researchers and other healthcare professionals - we can host it!

Hosted content
A widget placed on the site’s homepage which will alert healthcare professionals to your topic and with one click direct them straight to your content. Clear reporting will deliver you with the number of page views and time spent on the content (via Google Analytics)
