Nurses and Europe

Britain has ratified a recent Council of Europe agreement defining European standards for the training of nurses. Free movement of nursing staff throughout the 19 member countries should become easier when the agreement is put into effect, but as yet no other country has ratified it, though it has been signed by Denmark, France, Greece, and Western Germany.

Corrections

In the account of the New Year Honours (6 January, p. 49) Dr. Annis Gillie was described as having been a member of the council of the College of General Practitioners from 1960 to 1962. This should have read from 1952 to 1967.

Family Doctors Practising From Health Centres: We regret that owing to a printing error the beginning of the first sentence of the third paragraph of the section "Taking Patients to Doctors" (30 December 1967, p. 801) was omitted. The sentence should have read: "Dr. Roodyn called for ambulances to be attached to large health centres for transporting patients and specimens to the pathological laboratory."
