

BMJ in the News is a weekly digest of national and international news coverage in English for BMJ, The BMJ, and BMJ Journals.

The content is provided daily by Cision and Google Alerts. The views expressed are those of the individual journalists/outlets: they are intended to represent the breadth of media coverage, not endorsement by BMJ or the media relations team.

INFLUENCE

Daisy Cooper, Liberal Democrat, St Albans mentioned The BMJ investigation into sexual assault in the NHS in a House Of Commons debate 23 May 2023: “Today, it has been revealed that there have been 35,000 cases of sexual misconduct or violence in the NHS in the past five years. Medical colleges and unions are calling for an inquiry over the shocking levels of sexual assault in the NHS. The BBC, The Guardian, The BMJ, Byline and others are now reporting on this issue, but we have heard little from the Government. Will you please advise me whether the Secretary of State for Health and Social Care has given any indication that the Government intends to make a statement on the issue this week? Will you further advise those of us who have been trying to force action on this issue for the best part of a year how we can secure a debate on the Floor of the House?”

The Rockefeller Foundation cites research published in the Journal of Epidemiology & Community Health in its pandemic prevention initiative about the need to implement wastewater surveillance by way of early warning on circulating pathogens
