Commentary: Use of registries to investigate the past and develop the future

In the first paragraph of the “Postmarketing surveillance” section of this article by Stefan James and colleagues (BMJ 2011;342:d2826, doi:10.1136/bmj.d2826), the third sentence should start: “Reports of problems with devices should be submitted to competent authorities [not “to notified bodies”].”
