Parties

In this document references to “BMJ”, “We” and “Us” are to BMJ Publishing Group Limited (a company incorporated in England with company number, 3102371 whose registered office is BMA House, Tavistock Square, London WC1H 9JR, UK); and references to “You” are to the author agreeing to this licence under this agreement.

1. Definitions

- 1.1. The following definitions and rules of interpretation apply in this licence:

Author(s): the author of the Work who accepts this licence and any of their co-authors.

Commercial Use: any use of any part of the Work for i) any commercial gain without the agreement of BMJ, including without limitation, charging fees for delivery or access to the Work (whether on a standalone basis or included within any work), associating advertising to the Work or providing hosting services to other repositories or to other organisations (including where an otherwise non-commercial site or repository provides a service to other organisations or agencies); or ii) to substitute the services provided by BMJ in relation to Work or the Journal the Work may be included within. This may include systematic distribution or articles by any means (such as print, email, posting, indexing or linking) and/or any use for promotional or marketing activities by commercial companies including for use by their customers or intended audiences (for example by pharmaceutical companies to healthcare professionals or patients).

DP Laws: the Data Protection Act 2018, the General Data Protection Regulation (EU) 2016/679 (GDPR), the Privacy and Electronic Communications Regulations 2003 and all other applicable laws (each as amended or replaced from time to time).

Journal: a journal published by BMJ including without limitation all content published under the brand of a journal such as bmj.com or on any other BMJ journal website or other media.

Work: the work You have submitted for publication in the Journal or which BMJ has commissioned from you. It shall include the work submitted around the time this licence is accepted and unless otherwise agreed between Us, any future works submitted to or commissioned by BMJ for any Journal. Work shall include all text, audio, video and audio-visual material, abstracts, databases, tables, data, diagrams, photographs and other images or illustrative material and including all drafts of the Work, the version of the Work accepted for publication by Us.

2. Licence and publication of the Work

- 2.1. In consideration for BMJ evaluating whether to publish the Work and/or for any fee that has been agreed in writing, You grant an exclusive, worldwide, irrevocable, royalty free, licence to BMJ (and, where the Journal is co-owned by BMJ to the co-owners of the Journal) in perpetuity to:
 - 2.1.1. edit, adapt, publish, distribute, display, reproduce, translate and store the Work (and any derivative works based on the Work created under this licence) in all media and on all distribution platforms including social media platforms, whether now known or in the future developed or discovered, and whether as part of BMJ’s products and services or as part of other content owned, controlled or represented by BMJ;
 - 2.1.2. include the Work in collections of other work and create summaries, extracts, abstracts and other derivative works based in whole or in part on the Work;
 - 2.1.3. convert the Work into any format, including audio;
 - 2.1.4. exploit all subsidiary rights that exist or may exist in the future in the Work including in relation to metadata;
 - 2.1.5. include electronic links from the Work to any third-party material; and
 - 2.1.6. licence third parties to do any or all of the above.
- 2.2. We will credit you as the original Author(s) of the Work unless we make substantial changes to the Work or with your prior agreement. We sometimes will consult with You or another Author (if applicable) if substantial changes are made (but not on unsubstantial changes) but cannot always do so. You acknowledge and agree that BMJ may in its sole discretion publish any versions of the Work submitted to BMJ by You and any reviews of the Work and responses from You, or another Author and third parties relating to the Work. To the extent that these rights to BMJ would otherwise infringe any moral rights, these are hereby waived in BMJ’s favour.
- 2.3. You hereby authorise BMJ to take such steps as BMJ considers necessary to prevent infringement of Intellectual Property Rights in the Work or infringement of rights granted to BMJ by You under this licence without recourse to You.
- 2.4. You agree that BMJ may retract the Work or publish a correction or other notice in connection with the published Work at any time and without further recourse to You.

3. Ownership of rights in the Work

- 3.1. All Intellectual Property Rights in the Work remain with the Author(s) (or their employers as the case may be) and each Author shall be permitted to make such use of the Work as it set out in clause 6.

4. Warranties

You warrant that:

- 4.1 You are authorised to enter into this agreement on behalf of all Authors, including without limitation, to grant all rights and adhere to all obligations;
- 4.2 the Work comprises the original work of the Author(s) and

- has not been copied (in whole or in part) from any other work or material, or any other source;
- 4.3 no person other than the Author(s) named on the Work has been involved in the creation of the Work;
 - 4.4 if the Work (or any part of the Work) has been created in the course of employment You have all necessary written releases required to enter into this licence from any employer;
 - 4.5 that the Work has not previously been published (in whole or in part) and You are the sole, unencumbered absolute legal and beneficial owner(s) of all Intellectual Property Rights in the Work (or You have obtained the necessary assignments or licences required for publication under this licence);
 - 4.6 the Work does not infringe the Intellectual Property Rights, moral rights or any other right of any third party;
 - 4.7 written consent has been obtained from patients or next of kin if any part of the Work includes patient data (whether or not anonymised) and such written patient consent shall be provided to Us immediately if We request it;
 - 4.8 to the best of Your knowledge:
 - 4.8.1 the Work does not contain material that is obscene blasphemous, libellous, obtained directly or indirectly in breach of confidence or is otherwise objectionable;
 - 4.8.2 all statements of fact in the Work are true and correct and no advice, formula, or instruction in the Work will, if followed or implemented by any person, cause loss, damage or injury to them or any other person;
 - 4.9 You will not make any use of the Work other than as permitted under fair dealing provisions of the Copyright Design and Patents Act 1988 or as set out in this licence, without Our prior written consent;
 - 4.10 You will complete all requested documents from Us and any declarations of competing interests or other such documents submitted by the Author(s) are and shall remain accurate and You will notify Us in writing of any changes to such competing interests immediately; and
 - 4.11 all information supplied to Us shall be accurate.
- 5 Bribery and corruption. You agree to comply with all applicable laws relating to anti-bribery and corruption including the Bribery Act 2010 and to comply with BMJ's anti-bribery policy (published on the website bmj.com). You must notify Us immediately if You become aware of, or have grounds for suspecting, fraud or malpractice in connection with the Work. For the purposes of this clause malpractice includes giving or receiving any financial or other advantage that may be construed as a bribe under the Bribery Act 2010 (as amended) or any other applicable law.
- 6 Permitted uses by owners of the Work
- 6.1 Unless agreed with Us in writing, any Author may reproduce a reasonable number (no more than 10) of print copies of the Work for personal use and/or send an individual copy of the Work to colleagues within their institution and/or department, collaborators on any project they are working on, and anyone who directly requests a copy from them, in print or electronic form provided that there is no automatic distribution, only a single copy is supplied to each to any of the aforementioned recipients, they make the recipient know their use must be personal and not a Commercial Use, that the Author ensures no fee is charged and may not distribute any copies on a systematic basis including by mass e-mailings. Other uses may only be made by Author(s) if BMJ has granted express written permission.

- 6.2 Unless otherwise stated herein, the Author(s) may not make any Commercial Use of any part of the Work.
- 6.3 All rights not expressly granted to the Author(s) under this agreement are reserved to BMJ.

7 Data Protection

- 7.1 Both the Author(s) and BMJ will comply with the DP Laws.
- 7.2 BMJ will collect and process information relating to the Author(s) in accordance with BMJ's privacy notice (available here: <https://www.bmj.com/company/your-privacy/> (as updated or amended from time to time)).
- 7.3 The provisions of clause 7.2 are without prejudice to any additional rights to process personal data which exist for BMJ pursuant to and in accordance with relevant legislation.

8 Law and jurisdiction. This agreement its subject matter and formation, are governed by English law and the courts of England shall have exclusive jurisdiction to settle any dispute arising in connection with it.

9 General

- 9.1 This agreement shall be binding on, and enure to the benefit of, the Author(s) and BMJ and their respective personal representatives, successors and permitted assigns, and references to any party shall include that party's personal representatives, successors and permitted assigns.
- 9.2 To the fullest extent permitted by law, We accept no liability to You in connection with the Work.
- 9.3 Each of the provisions set out in this agreement operates separately. If any court or competent authority decides that any provision is unlawful or unenforceable, the remaining conditions will remain in full force and effect.
- 9.4 This agreement including all information supplied to Us, howsoever relating to the Work, constitutes the whole agreement (the legally binding contract) between the Author(s) and Us relating to the Work and supersedes all prior arrangements or understandings regarding the Work whether written or oral.

10 Permissions. Permission must be sought from BMJ for all uses not expressly set out as permitted uses under this licence. Please email: bmj.permissions@bmj.com.
